park-local is that ingenious

park-local – the brilliantly simple web application allowing you to manage and share parking spaces simply and efficiently according to the sharing

With park-local, owners can maximise utilisation of their parking facilities, release free spaces quickly and easily for authorised users, who can then reserve their spots via the park-local smartphone app. park-local is the perfect solution for those who provide parking spaces – and for those who use parking spaces. park-local makes car-park management brilliantly simple, more efficient, more flexible, more convenient, and also more affordable.

This is how park-local works

park-local is available as a web application and as an app for iPhone and Android, and is very user-friendly – ingenious you might say!

Parking space owners (e.g. property management, private entities, companies, hotels, institutions) manage their parking spaces efficiently in terms of time and costs via the park-local web application.

Parking areas can be prioritised via group allocations (e.g. to employees, visitors, VIPs). Free parking spaces can be released for authorised users (e.g. tenants, employees) for defined periods of time. When the need arises, these individuals can reserve parking spaces that they additionally require for a certain period of time (e.g. local celebration, corporate event, in-house exhibition).

A real-time overview of the available free spaces is provided via the web application and via the app.

With Park-Local, you increase the utilisation stats of your parking area. This means: More drivers can find a parking space in the same parking area over the course of the day.

The park-local team

park-local is an idea and a product of Park-Local AG, which was founded by Urs Christen, Timo Fuhlbrügge and Patrick Willborn in 2016.

The three founding members of the company know from their own experience: There are clearly too many permanently assigned parking spaces in industrial areas and in many leased properties. This leads to massive levels of vacancy, while clients, visitors and suppliers drive around in circles, wasting time, losing patience and damaging the environment. And so the idea for park-local was conceived – the groundbreaking tool for managing and sharing free parking spaces available via the web application or smartphone app. park-local is brilliantly simple, efficient and impressively affordable
